

03/19/2024

UNewsual

The best of futile news

#GangstaGrandma

While driving to visit her friends, 103-year-old Italian Giuseppina Molinari was arrested at 01:00 AM on Sunday night for illegal driving. The centenarian lady was found driving incoherently and without any car insurance . Moreover her driving licence had been invalid for two years. The carabinieri policemen received a call denouncing Giuseppina's offence, and she was subsequently fined. Later she told the local newspaper "La Nuova Ferrara" : "I'll buy myself a Vespa or a scooter ". This adventure has put the Italian on the map, and she won the sympathy of the mayor, who told her: "I'd give Giuseppina a medal rather than a fine (...) To have such inner strength is unusual, and it gives me hope for my own old age! In the meantime, the single woman is now cycling to her acquaintances' home

Image generated by Bing Image Creator by Petit. M

Aliens landing in France

On saturday 16 march 2024, some 2200 people attended a conference called "Symposium Exovision". The main idea for the participants was to discuss the preparation of a next arrival of aliens on Earth. This demonstration has been placed under close surveillance by the intelligence services to avoid conspiracy excesses.

Bees VS Alcaraz

Image generated by Bing Image Creator by Petit. M

On Thursday March, 14th, as Carlos Alcaraz and Alexander Zverer played out their quarter-final match at the Indian Wells tennis tournament in the United States, an army of bees invaded the tennis court and interrupted the match for more than two hours. The match was resumed thanks to the acclaimed intervention of the local bee expert Lance David, who used a special hoover .

Sleeping Beauty in Mexico City

In the middle of one of the busiest and noisiest neighborhood in Mexico City, 200 people took a collective nap in the middle of the street to celebrate World Sleep Day on March, 16th, 2024 The best nap in the world: Mexico

Image generated by lexica.art.IA by Querio.N

#Unbearable

On tuesday, March, 12th 2024, a Lituianian driver was arrested on a French highway during a roadside check. Customs officers found a bearskin in his vehicle. As bears are a protected specy, the man was fined.

Image generated by Bing Image Creator by Petit. M

Lycée des Metiers Charles Baudelaire
Evry-Courcouronne 91 France
Erasmus Students 2023/2024
Chief Editor : Boutry Hugo